Hertz HURTS

How Safe is Your Rental Car from Hertz?

Employees at Hertz Rental Cars in Vancouver went on strike on Tuesday, February 2 to protect their jobs.

This includes all the mechanics that maintain and repair rental cars. Without these core safety services, how can Hertz perform the inspections and repairs that are usually carried out on all rental vehicles?

Mechanics are worried that Hertz is not conducting proper safety checks. This may include recently recalled Toyotas, which have not had recommended maintenance performed on them.

Rent Your Car At Another Agency

We encourage you to rent your car through another agency until this dispute is resolved and unionized employees are able to return to work and again begin the full suite of inspections and repairs to ensure that your rental car provides the safety that you deserve and should be able to expect.

Other Agencies Have Been Able to Meet, or Beat, Hertz Rates

Other car rental agencies have been able to meet Hertz's rates.

In many cases, other agencies have even been able to offer Hertz customers better rates than their existing Hertz reservations.

At the Vancouver Airport, just go to one of the other rental counters, show them your Hertz rate, and see if they can beat it. Otherwise, call another rental agency, or check with your hotel, and ask them to meet or beat your Hertz rate.

You can save money, and feel safe and not have to worry if the vehicle you are driving hasn't received the inspections and repairs it needs.

Members of the Canadian Office and Professional Employees Union, Local 378 voted to go on strike in order to protect their job security. Hertz Car Rentals wants to force full time employees to take part time jobs.

In today's economy, with Vancouver's high cost of living, it is hard enough to get by. Most members on strike have worked with Hertz for many years, and can not afford to support a family on a part time wage.

Good people deserve a good contract.

Paid for by the Canadian Office and Professional Employees Union, Local 378 cope 378 cope378.ca